

Upcoming Continuing Education Seminar
Course Topic: Mindful Stretching Therapy with Dwight Chien, Ph.D., Dipl. O.M., L.Ac.

Program Description: According to Chinese Medicine, Jing (Essence), Qi (Lifeforce Energy), and Shen (Spirit) are the Three Treasures in our body and mind. If the Three Treasures are wholesome, the person will be wholesome. Shen is the most subtle and non-material type of Qi. By practicing Mindful Stretching Therapy, the practitioner can improve wholesomeness of Shen, which in turn, will help to keep Jing and Qi wholesome. In the meantime, the Mindful Stretching Therapy also improves the body health directly by stretching the muscles and tendons. Mindful Stretching Therapy developed by Dwight Chien is a revolutionary technique in the world. It allows us to safely and comfortably stretch beyond our Stretch Reflex while the world is still stretching within it. This unique feature affords the direct therapeutic effect for Mindful Stretching Therapy.

A system has been developed for participants to do mindful stretching of the whole body. The Mindful Stretching Therapy has been approved for 8 PDA points and will be taught in an 8-hour session. Upon completion of this course, the participants will learn

- * how to improve mindfulness so that they can strengthen their Three Treasures.
- * to improve body health by learning how to safely and comfortably stretch beyond the Stretch Reflex in the body.
- * how to help healing some of their own muscle/tendon pain.
- * to teach their patients how to do a few specific stretching to speed up recovery.
- * to slow down or even reverse aging of their muscle/tendon.

Presenter: Dwight has more than 20 years of experience in Meditation, Taichi, Six Healing Sounds, Shake Arm exercises. He also has more than 5 years of experience in Mindful Stretching Therapy. Please dress loosely for stretching and also bring an exercise mat to the class.
